

Egyptian Dermatology Online Journal

Volume 2 Number 1

Letter to the Editor:

Role of Cotton Bud in Dermatologic Surgery

Author: Dr. Sanjay Saraf
MS, MCh.(Plastic Surgery)
DNB (Plastic Surgery)
MNAMS
Specialist Plastic Surgeon

Institution: Dept. of Plastic and Cosmetic Surgery
NMC Specialty Hospital
Dubai, UAE

Corresponding Author:
Dr. Sanjay Saraf
Dept. of Plastic and Cosmetic Surgery
NMC Specialty Hospital
Dubai, UAE.

e-mail: drsaraf@hotmail.com

Egyptian Dermatology Online Journal 2 (2):11, December 2006.

Accepted for publication in : Aug., 2006.

---

Role of Cotton Bud in Dermatologic Surgery

1. As an applicator for chemical peeling
2. For chemical cauterization of skin lesions
3. As a coarse skin marker
4. To achieve hemostasis during hair transplantation
5. For blunt sensory mapping
6. To smear ointment over suture line
7. To paint an area of vitiligo before overgrafting.

8. To express hematomas/seromas from mesh grafted site
9. To express collection from suture line
10. To clean tips of fine instruments
11. To clean fine tip cautery
12. To apply tincture benzoin before putting adhesive.

© 2006 Egyptian Dermatology Online Journal